On the Road Again

FEEL THE WIND IN YOUR FUR AND WATCH THE LAND UNFOLD BENEATH YOUR PAWS.

By Jessica Nosek

[1] Power up. Get some quick food energy while on the go. Bow Wow Power Bar, endlesspawsibilities.ca [2] Don't forget the keys! A tick removal device is a must for every bush-whacking dog. Tick Key, thetickkey.com [3] Are we there yet? Temper bored canine travelers with food and drink—in the car! To Go Bowl, furrytravelers.com [4] Bathroom break. Savvy travelers are always prepared. Dog-waste-bag carrier, 4U2reUse.com [5] Road Kill. Let Rover answer the call of the wild. Foxtail and rubber squeaky toy, mydogbrand.com [6] Daily dose. Being on the road shouldn't compromise your dog's health. Supplements for your dog's diet in handy one-day-supply packs, greendognaturals.com [7] Maxin' and relaxin.' Calm down a jazzed up dog. Sleepytime Tonic, h*appytailsspa.com* [8] Reclaim some territory. For those who like to make their "mark" in this world (Or car. Or hotel room.), this band prevents embarrassment and the necessity for cleaning supplies. Belly band, oscarnewman.com [9] Best paw forward. Make a good impression on the new friends you meet. Dry Dog spray on bath replacement, happytailsspa.com [10] On the radar. Keep all important info, including interim travel contacts, right on your dog. Waterproof USB dog tag, dawg-e-data.com [11] Quiet in the back seat! Maintain your sanity (and hearing). Citronella spray anti-barking collar, innotek.com [12] No hitchhikers. 100 percent organic essential oils help keep pests away. Flea and Tick concentrate, k9granolafactory.com [13] Back packing. Let Woofer carry his own weight. Gypsy backpack, wagn4u.com [14] High and dry. Impromptu swim? Excess sweat? Dry off in a jiffy. Moisture wicking towel, discoverytrekking.com [15] Have bowl, will travel. Collapsible water and food dishes can clip to your pack for spur of the moment exploration, dexas.com [16] We're Here! Show everyone you've arrived with cute reflective tags. Firefly reflectors, firefly-ny.com